The National Treasury is indeed in a terrible plight. There is an actual deficit of thirty odd millions, and it is believed that the deficit on the first of January will not be less than $42,000,000. On that day the $20,000,000 gold down of 1868 falls due. There is not, in fact, an available dollar in the treasury, except the gold. The Secretary is using and has been using, in violation of the plain letter of the law, his greenback reserve, and to-day the outstanding circulation is fully $30,000,000 more than is anthorized by law. And yet this is the administration that was to give us happiness and prosperity!

The Secretary sees his reserve fund rapidly although illegally vanishing, and therefore he demands more taxes. Against this the The National Treasury is indeed in a ter-
